Davis Declares Citizens Take Little Interest in Election Unless
They Desire Change in Administration

HAS NEEDED VOTES

"Drift in West and Central West"
Indicates Majority in Electoral College—Straw Votes Pre-
posterous, He Says

New York, Oct. 24.—The flat statement that "the Democratic party will win the presidential election" was made tonight by John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, upon his return here from a final campaign tour of the middle western states.

Mr. Davis, in a formal statement, declared further that "personal contact with the voters has demonstrated that they will not excuse the corruption and mal-administration that has prevailed at Washington during the recent years of Republican misrule."

It was also positively asserted that, in addition to the victory he claimed for the national ticket, the Democrats "will control congress, thus ensuring putting in effect our promised reforms just as soon as legislation to that end can be framed and passed."

Among the "reforms" promised by Mr. Davis are revision of the tariff, reduced taxes, international co-operation, improved inland waterways, and farm legislation.

People Preparing for Change

Efforts of his political opponents to bolster up their cause by suggesting danger of the election going into the house, Mr. Davis said, had been investigated with the result that "more than the necessary 266 votes to elect the President already are assured."

That announcement was supported, he declared, by the "drift in the west and the central west."

"When I first started out to carry the west of the country," he said, "I was told that the Democratic party was at its infancy. Now there were indications that the people were deeply interested. That interest has increased from day to day until at the present moment the coming election, a week from next Tuesday, is a serious event."

"When I make the statement that the Democrats will carry the election and will elect their national ticket and a congress to uphold the new administration, I do so because of my knowledge of the exact conditions that prevail in this country."

"The people are making ready to order a change. This is indicated probably more than anywhere else in the greatly increased registration reported from one end of the country to the other. It does not take any great familiarity with political affairs to understand that such heavy increases bode ill to the party in power. When the voters are satisfied it is a very hard task to get these little reasons for a change and defy the efforts of the party workers to persuade them to qualify to discharge their duties at the polls."

Call Straw Votes Preposterous

This year, however, we find reported an increase in registration that has astonished the wisest of politicians. It is not confined to any particular section. Everywhere the story is the same—the men and women of the country have registered to do their part in ordering a change in conditions.

"This latest trip has taken me into the great central west and some of the border states. Everywhere the story has been the same. The meetings which I have addressed have been the largest ever held in the particular localities visited. The audiences have been enthusiastically friendly. They have listened intently to the exposition of the real issues of this campaign with a sincerity that has been deeply felt by me."

"While our opponents are endeavoring to bolster their cause by suggesting the danger of the election going into the house, there is not a single Democrat who has been deceived by the suggestion that the election will be decided by the vote of a few states."

FOUR MEN HANGED FOR KILLING BANK MESSENGER

New York, Oct. 24.—Four men were hanged today for the murder of a bank messenger. The men were: Louis Morrell, Frank Gambino, Giuseppe Serafini, and Tony Frank. The sentences of Mike Valente and Leo Davis were commuted.

Gambino's last words on the scaffold were addressed to "Expensive Killa, who he ordered to 'Go easy'."

BUSINESS NOW IMPROVING

Persistent, But Somewhat Irrregular Growth Throughout Country Shown, He Declares

New York, Oct. 24.—Business conditions in this country during the next year and during the next four years depend largely upon the result of the election of November 4, N. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, declared in his presidential address to the American Iron and Steel Institution today.

"Every well-informed business man or woman," Mr. Gary told the steel manufacturers, "knows that if the best men are elected there probably will be continued and increasing prosperity, and that if others less capable and less worthy are elected we may expect depression and disturbances in business, less production, more idleness, less comfort, more distress—a decided inferiority to legitimate progress that will not be easily nor soon overcome."

Mr. Gary said he was convinced the public had been right during the last few months in believing the election returns would be satisfactory, as shown by the steady and persistent increases in the volume of business. With such a result, he added, the country could look forward through the autumn and succeeding months with hope and confidence.

"Our ship of state is too great, too fine, too solid, substantial, and strong," he declared, "to be pronounced unworthy on the words of unscrupulous, unintelligent or inexperienced men, and then turned over to a board of underwriters."

Business Displays Improvement

Outlining qualifications which he believed a President of the United States should possess, Mr. Gary said "he should be willing to lend his influence and devote his talents to legitimate business progress and general prosperity, and likewise to prevent and penalize corruption and wrongdoing."

He should endeavor to assist and protect the poor, the weak and the suffering, and at the same time strong and the happy when it is indisputably right to do so."

Business throughout the United States has shown a consistent though somewhat irregular growth since last May, with the volume expanding each succeeding month, said the steel magnate.

Reviewing the Pittsburgh-plus case, which led to the abandonment of this price basing practice, Mr. Gary cautioned the manufacturers against appealing to the courts for remedy before they had given the matter patient and painstaking thought. He said the entire iron and steel industry, within a reasonable time, would voluntarily be operating on a basis conformable to the opinion rendered by the federal trade commission in abolishing the Pittsburgh-plus method.

COOLIDGE MAY GO TO STOCK SHOW

Experts to Attend Opening in Chicago—Probably Will Cast His Vote by Mail

Washington, Oct. 24.—President Coolidge is planning to attend the opening in Chicago the latter part of November of the American Live Stock exposition.

The President also hopes that he may be able to attend the annual football game between the Army and Navy to be played at Baltimore November 21. While he had planned to go to Boston, Mass., to cast his ballot on November 4, Mr. Coolidge has decided to vote by mail.

Mr. Coolidge was invited to Chicago for the exposition last summer and from that time he has hoped that he could accept. In case he should go, it is expected he will probably deliver an address at the closing session of the Eastern Society of Anesthetists here today.

"Insulin and sugar can be given to the patient who is almost moribund from blood poisoning of any kind," Dr. Benjamin declared, "and in 24 to 48 hours such a patient will be in good condition to withstand operation with every prospect of recovery."

While toxic poisons counteract acids, he said, it was only recently discovered that insulin and sugar will control and reverse the presence of bacteria and toxins in the blood.

AMERICA SEEKS TO AID EUROPE HELP ITSELF

Ready to Assist Country That Wants Relief But Not Benevolence, Says Coolidge to Near East Relief Association

MUST REPAY DEBTS

President Praises Citizens Who Have Loaned Private Funds but Says Government Makes No Promises to Protect Them

Washington, Oct. 24.—The "hope and aim of America" is to help Europe to help itself, President Coolidge declared tonight in an address devoted to international relations at a golden rule dinner of the Near East Relief Association.

Speaking before an audience which included many members of the diplomatic corps, Mr. Coolidge outlined at some length the attitude of the Washington government in foreign affairs, which he declared followed the golden rule.

"Europe does not want our benevolence," the President said. "It does want our help, and we are ready to give it. America wants the peace of good will and of the golden rule; not the peace of force imposed by those who have power. It wants peace, as the normal, the right, the assured estate in a world from which a wiser generation shall have forever outlawed aggressive war."

Private Loans Not Protected

Recalling that this country had expended millions in charitable relief, Mr. Coolidge called attention to the fact that it also had extended to other governments loans and credits, "which they are beginning to repay." There is a "moral obligation" to make such repayments, he added.

The President took occasion also to restate that while this government had given its "general approbation to numerous loans made by its private citizens in aiding the refinancing of European countries, the loans were made 'without the assumption of any obligation whatever by our government.'"

"American investors receive no assurance that their loans or agreements will be supported by government arms," Mr. Coolidge explained. "It is gratifying that American capitalists are able to facilitate the plan of trying into effect of the Dawes plan with its promise of economic recuperation abroad from which we as well as the peoples abroad will benefit. But loans are made without commitments on the part of this government."

Americans Prevented Bolshevism

Going into a detailed account of the errands of mercy by this government in Europe, and the far East in recent years, and to its accomplishments in stabilizing economic conditions generally, the President referred to those "exceedingly modest souls" who "constantly deprecate their own assumption that our country has done nothing to Europe."

"America is profoundly concerned in behalf of whatever promises to make the world a better neighborhood, and its peoples better neighbors. We have no better wish than to be good and helpful neighbors with all. Though we may have seemed aloof from the scenes of conflict, our people insisted on bearing their share in the world struggle. Later, when in a time of chaos, threatened in many parts and there was a loosening of bounds that seemed to menace the very basis of society, our people were ready with assistance for the unfortunate and suffering, wherever they were."

American relief during the famine periods in Russia had prevented, he declared, the spread of Bolshevism over a large portion of Europe. But for this relief, he added, civilization, "which has been set back a generation in Russia, would have had the same setback over a half-century of other countries. Peace would have been impossible."

INSULIN OF GREAT USE IN SURGICAL OPERATIONS

New York, Oct. 24.—Insulin will soon be of greater value in surgery than in the treatment of diabetes, Dr. C. P. Denman of Ithaca declared in an address at the closing session of the Eastern Society of Anesthetists here today.

"Insulin and sugar can be given to the patient who is almost moribund from blood poisoning of any kind," Dr. Denman declared, "and in 24 to 48 hours such a patient will be in good condition to withstand operation with every prospect of recovery."

The worst patients whose blood has been affected by formation of body acids, septic poisons of bacteria or toxins of other diseases. While toxic poisons counteract acids, he said, it was only recently discovered that insulin and sugar will control and reverse the presence of bacteria and toxins in the blood.

DEVALERA'S CASE DISALLOWED

New York, Oct. 24.—Attempts of Eusebio de Valera and Stephen O'Mara to obtain "expenses" from the Irish Free State for their work in raising about $2,000,000 in this country by the sale of Irish republican bonds before the peace treaty creating the Free State was ratified, met with rebuff in the appellate court today.

NEWSPAPERS PRINT INCOME TAX DATA

Washington Officials, After Long Conference, Unable to Interpret Statutes

New York, Oct. 24.—New York newspapers, with few exceptions, today printed partial lists of income tax payers and the amounts they paid, notwithstanding warnings issued from Washington that such information would be published at the papers' own risk.

The expected rush of the general public to satisfy curiosity failed to develop. There were comparatively few requests for information. Bond salesmen, insurance men and others who might use the information to good advantage encountered frigid receptions. They were informed that making public names and figures on the tax lists except for good reason would be regarded as "violating the spirit of the law."

Officials Puzzled on Controversy

Washington, Oct. 24.—After a night and a day of conferences during which they withstood an avalanche of inquiries, protests, and pleadings for definite advice, Washington officials tonight found themselves almost where they started on the puzzle whether newspapers may safely publish facts in regard to the income tax payments of the American people.

The only statement of a definite character forthcoming during the day was a warning by Acting General James M. Beck that any newspaper publishing lists of names to public inspection "must do so on its own responsibility." There was open disagreement everywhere among officials of the department of justice and treasury. Persistent inquirers seeking some specific construction of the two sections of law involved usually met with a grin and the reply: "There are the two sections; what can we do about it?"

LA FOLLETTE SAYS HE WILL FIND TRUTH

Promises to Reveal Methods Used to "Conceal" Certain G. O. P. Campaign Contributions

Syracuse, Oct. 24.—Invading the east again for a week of campaigning, Senator Robert M. La Follette, independent presidential candidate, in a speech here tonight let loose another volley of his attacks on the party, charging that those seeking to bring about the election of President Coolidge are resorting to "deception, coercion, and purchase" in an effort to win.

Revealing his charge that the Republicans are accumulating "a huge slush fund" for use in doubtful states, the independent candidate said it had been brought out before the senate investigating committee that "not one penny" thus far collected in New York state for the Republican campaign fund was credited to "such men as Elbert H. Gary, J. Pierpont Morgan, J. D. Rockefeller, or any of the others who in the past have regularly filled the Republican campaign war chest."

"Where are their contributions hidden?" he continued. "We mean to find out. We are determined before this campaign is ended to drag these contributions into the light and to show the methods by which campaign contributions are concealed. This is not a blind hunt. We know more than has yet been revealed to the committee. We are hot on the trail and the public will know the hideous truths."

"We are determined that Wall Street shall not buy this election. We serve notice now that if we are unable by the means at our command to halt the distribution of this slush fund before the election that we will continue the investigation until all facts are revealed and the crime against the life of this government brought home to the guilty."

Retreat of central government armies at Shankaiwan had been cut off. It was declared.

For several years he was election commissioner of Cortland county, and he also was known as a leading horseman of central New York. He was 55 years of age, and is survived by two daughters and two brothers.

WOMAN HANGS FROM LEDGE

Newburgh, Oct. 24.—Trapped by fire and smoke in a room on the top floor of the Young Women's Christian association building here today, Mrs. Edward C. Clark, wife of the caretaker, climbed out of a window and hung for five minutes from a ledge until firemen arrived and saved her.

The woman's husband, unaware of her plight, insisted on climbing to safety down rear porch supports. None was hurt as the blaze was extinguished after damage of $7,000 had been done.

SENSATION IN CAMPAIGN FUND MAY BE NEAR

Corroboration of Circumstantial Stories Will Have Big Effect on Republican Campaign, It Is Stated

UNTERMYER SILENT

Says He Won't Take Responsibility of Revealing Story Until Committee Had Time to Ascertain Its Truth

Washington, Oct. 24.—Senate investigators of political campaign contributions set the machinery in motion today in an effort to corroborate circumstantial stories told by two men from Chicago, which it was indicated tonight will have a profound effect upon the Republican national campaign if they are substantiated.

Meanwhile the nature of the stories is a secret carefully guarded until by members of the investigating committee and Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City and Samuel Untermyer of New York, counsel for Senator Robert M. La Follette, the independent presidential candidate who has made charges of a "slush" fund for use on behalf of the Republican national ticket.

In informing the committee in open session that he was in possession of the information given by the Chicago men, Mr. Untermyer said that because of the possible effect it might have on the Republican campaign, he would hesitate to take the responsibility for spreading it before the country until the committee had had opportunity to run down the "leads" that could be furnished.

After the committee had acted unfavorably upon a suggestion that the Chicago men be heard behind closed doors, counsel presented the information to the senators in executive session and asked that certain persons be subpoenaed. This request was complied with, but the names of the progressive witnesses were withheld.

Virginia G. O. P. Factions at Peace

At the hearing today four additional witnesses were heard, but efforts to uncover direct evidence of the assembling of a large "slush" fund for use in the Republican campaign again were unsuccessful.

Evidence was adduced to show that the leader of the "lily white" Republican faction in Virginia, J. C. Crupper of Alexandria, had held out the olive branch to the opposing "lily black" Republican faction in that state and simultaneously sent a check for $300 to the treasurer of the black organization, David A. Ferguson, a negro dentist of Richmond, with the statement that negroes could use the money in the campaign.

More testimony was given regarding the activities of the bankers' committee which is collecting funds among New York City bankers for the Republican national committee. George W. Simmons, a vice president of the Mechanics and Metals National bank, testified that as a member of the bankers' committee he had sent out 500 appeals to junior officers of the banks and had received a total of $217.

Much of the day's session was taken up with a discussion of the legal rights of the Pennsylvania railroad to spend part of its earnings in a campaign "to educate the public" on political and economic questions through the medium of the menu cards used on its dining cars. W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania, occupied the witness chair during this debate.

ROOSEVELT SAYS HE IS CONFIDENT OF HIS ELECTION

"People Upstate Are Thoroughly Aroused and Mean Business," He Tells Correspondents

LEAVES FOR NEW YORK DRIVE

Ready to Storm Tammany Stronghold in Final Week—Believes in Civil Service

Troy, Oct. 24.—Expressing himself as confident that his three weeks' stump campaign had assured for him an "overwhelming majority" in the upstate counties, Theodore Roosevelt tonight delivered in Music hall here the last address of his tour and prepared to "storm the Tammany stronghold in New York."

"The people upstate are thoroughly aroused and mean business," he told newspaper correspondents on his special train tonight. "They are turned out in great crowds, young and old, men and women, bringing their children with them. I am more than satisfied with them. We have taken the front end of the Tammany train. Now we will storm the Tammany stronghold in New York."

Colonel Roosevelt has delivered 211 speeches, counting all his short talks as well as the larger ones. In 17 week days since October 6. His special train, according to the conductor, will have traveled 2,303 miles when it reaches New York. The nominee has made stops in 51 of the 55 counties outside New York city and Long Island. His audiences in almost every instance have been cordial and numerous.

The colonel tonight referred to the civil service for the first time in his trip and said that his efforts "while governor" would be "directed toward perfecting it."

"Naturally I am a strong believer in the civil service," he said. "I have worked with it and I am confident that for government work it is by all odds the best solution. I had directly under me in the navy department 40,000 civilian employees. The vast majority of these were under civil service. I therefore know from personal administrative connection therewith for the last three years the governmental advantages of this system. Though we must be economical in administration and see that the people get a dollar of necessary service for every dollar expended, it is folly of the rankest sort for the state or any business institution to under-employ a competent employee."

NOTES CAST UP BY SEA USED IN TRIAL

New York, Oct. 24.—Messages found in a bottle cast upon the Orkney islands seven years ago were admitted in evidence today during trial of a $100,000 suit brought against Charles W. Morse and others by Mrs. Adelaide G. Nelson of Philadelphia, whose son, Lawrence, with 29 other sailors, went down with the steamship Frederick, and a cargo of war munitions in January, 1917.

Attorneys for Mrs. Nelson sought to show through the testimony of witnesses and corroborative testimony of the bottled notes that the Frederick was a rotten hulk when she put to sea, and that her sinking was due to unseaworthiness and not, as the defense maintained, to a German submarine or floating mine.

The message penned in English with letters blurred and water stained, read:

"Dan Watson—going down on the steamship Frederick's within half hour. Call on my family at 100 West 10th street, Austin, Texas. I was alone. Dan Watson, my loving son." Robert Watson was recorded as a member of the Frederick's crew who perished when she was lost.

Written in Spanish, the second message said, in translation:

"I am Miguel Igual, born in Valencia, Spain, shipwrecked in the Frederick of New York. I die thinking about you, my parents. Goodbye and forgive everything. Goodbye. Amparo. I will always think about you and about my parents and brothers. Goodbye. Goodbye. Goodbye. I love you. My name has been changed for that of Antonio Albaladejo."

Referring to the colonel's remarks on the tariff, the governor defined the Republican tariff as "the payment of the Republican debt to the big interests that raised $9,000,000 to elect Harding and the Republican administration in 1920."

The governor again called Colonel Roosevelt to account for his assertion that the Republican legislature of 1901 created a department of labor. Governor Smith said that department had been established in 1886 under the name of the bureau of labor.

UPSTATE TOUR OF GOVERNOR COMES TO END

BIG DEMONSTRATION

Executive States Opponent Appears to Be Entirely Lacking in Understanding of the State Government

Albany, Oct. 24.—Governor Alfred E. Smith concluded his upstate campaign here tonight with a speech in which he took up the address of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, his Republican opponent, "to see if it is possible to find anything in them that would justify the Republican contention that he should be placed at the head of the state government for the next two years."

"The governor attacked Colonel Roosevelt's address here on Wednesday night in which he reviewed many of the state issues was the first real declaration he has made in the course of his campaign."

"The rest of Colonel Roosevelt's public utterances," the governor added, "amount to practically nothing. Aside from greeting old friends and neighbors, he has had very little to say that would tend to cast any light upon his attitude toward public questions. I appreciate the difficulty of making speeches when you have to make 15 speeches each day. No living man can do it and at the same time do any thinking, but he has no choice in the matter. He must make his campaign upon the plans laid down for him by the machine leaders of his party."

Governor Smith's address, delivered before a large crowd of "thorax ticks," followed a great parade of capital district Democratic organizations. The demonstration was marked by red fire flares, 15 brass bands, three fire and drum corps and fireworks.

Legislature in Fall Control.

Tomorrow the governor will go to New York to address a luncheon of the Women's Democratic union.

Governor Smith in his address tonight considered Colonel Roosevelt's "senseless and foolish charge" about a Democratic attempt to get control of the department of education.

"He appears to be entirely lacking in any understanding of the present relationship of that department to the government of this state," the governor said. "He asserted that the Democrats were seeking to amend the constitution so that the legislature could at any time give the appointment of the commissioner of education to the people. Nothing could be more ridiculous because that is the present law of the state and has nothing whatever to do with the constitution. The next legislature can change the appointing power of the commissioner of education at will. They could even provide for his election if they saw fit."

"When the wires were crossed at one of his meetings and he pulled a boner and attempted to talk about something that he didn't get sufficient information about," the governor continued, "Colonel Roosevelt asked that the platform 'Who told me that?' be therefore fitting and proper. I am to ask him concerning his remarks on the educational system. Who told him what he said at this ball a few nights ago? Who told there was any negligence at all accomplished in Washington?"

Referring to the colonel's remarks on the tariff, the governor defined the Republican tariff as "the payment of the Republican debt to the big interests that raised $9,000,000 to elect Harding and the Republican administration in 1920."

The governor again called Colonel Roosevelt to account for his assertion that the Republican legislature of 1901 created a department of labor. Governor Smith said that department had been established in 1886 under the name of the bureau of labor.

Golf

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

PRACTICE

What proportion of a player's time should be allotted to practice and what proportion to actual play when he applies to be a player?

Answered by

A. H. MURRAY.

Canadian professional champion.

The proportion of time to be spent in practice depends entirely upon the present proficiency of the player. I would say if the player shoots between ninety and a hundred, seventy-five per cent of his time should be devoted to practice. If he plays under ninety, fifty per cent of the time should be given over to practice, and if he shoots between seventy and eighty one-quarter of his available time should be devoted to practice. More can be gained from a few hours of practice than from weeks of actual play. The champion player, who seldom makes a hole in the hole, should devote all his time to practice and never practice.

A lot of players say, "I only play golf for the exercise and fresh air. I'm a dabbler, but it doesn't matter. Nobody is paying me to play golf, and I'm not shooting golf for a living. I get just as much fun out of the game as a scratch man." This is untrue. Players get a lot more fun out of the game if they play well.

TRANS AT CROSS ROADS TODAY

Many Important Games Scheduled on Gridiron — Six of 11 Underdog Leading Teams Will Meet in Three Major Clashes—Three Big Battles in New York City.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Oct. 24.—Most of the contenders for eastern football honors of 1924 reach the crossroads tomorrow. The path that leads to title glory will be trodden by a diminished band of warriors by the time the shadows have fallen across the fields of battle that promise stirring fights for supremacy in many sectors.

Six of the 11 more important trans of the Atlantic seaboard that have not yet been defeated will meet in three of the day's outstanding engagements. Harvard clashes with Dartmouth at Cambridge and Lafayette, in times unending its old rival, Washington and Jefferson, at the Polo grounds in two contests that promise to be among the most closely fought of any. Rutgers, conquerer of Cornell, meets Yale, which held Princeton to a scoreless tie, in the third struggle involving union-torn arrays.

No far this season the east has farmed badly in important intercollegiate play with the middle west. Notre Dame will be seeking a second intercollegiate victory, while Colgate has been beaten by Nebraska, Navy by Marquette, and Brown by Chicago.

New York city will entertain an exceptional array of college talent tomorrow. Besides the W. and J. Lafayette and Williams-Columbia games, West Virginia and Center will settle their 1924 rivalry at the Yankee stadium with the Mountaineers taking the field favorites over the "Praying Colonels."

May Refuse License to McGuire.

New York, Oct. 24.—The New York state athletic commission today recommended to its license commission that Mike McGuire, world light heavyweight champion, be refused a license to box in New York for a year because of his failure to accept a challenge to defend his title against Gene Tunney, holder of the American 175-pound crown.

GIANTS WIN IN NINTH

White Sox, 3 to 2, in first game of trip—Young, Mott, and Frick. Victims of Triple Play in Ninth—Duke and Deane of York whom Contr.

(By the Associated Press.)

London, Oct. 24.—The New York Giants and the Chicago White Sox, in their second exhibition game in England, today gave several thousand British "fans" a real demonstration of big league baseball. The Giants won a most thrilling game by the score of 3 to 2, with a ninth-inning rally.

Among the interested spectators were the Duke and Duchess of York. The son of King George was received by Ambassador Kellie and introduced to John McGraw, the Giants' manager. In addition the duke met the players and insisted on shaking hands with each of them.

The Giants, playing at their best, held on to a slim one-run lead until the eighth inning, when the Sox drove two runs over the plate. But the apparent victors had their seeming triumph snatched away from them by the New York rally when two runs were scored. On the fielding side there was a rare bit of baseball excellence in the sixth inning when the Chicago infield evolved a triple play.

The triple play came about in this manner: Frisch was on third and Young on first when Mottel hit a bouncer to second, where Bancroft, after stepping on the bag, threw to first for the second outout. Mottel, Frisch, either sleep or inattention, had remained near third and was trapped between them and home.

SECOND GLANCES AT

POLITICAL RALLIES

Congressman James A. Frear, who spoke last night at the Oneonta town hall, has been credited for an address in which ability and eloquence prevailed regardless of what anyone may think about the issues he advocated and the causes of the candidates he is backing.

"I have no words of criticism against the personal characters of either of the candidates for President on the tickets of the two other parties," said Mr. Frear. "I think that anyone who knows either, knows that both President Coolidge and Mr. Davis are following their convictions and that each is honest. But it is our contention that the issues in the coming national election are greater than any man or any set of men and that if the present conditions are allowed to continue, the basic fundamentals of our government are seriously threatened."

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt added a human interest touch to his visit in Oneonta that was observed by only a few who happened to be near at the time. As he was entering the lobby of the theatre to make his speech, his glance caught an aged cripple in a chair and who had been unable to get through the crush into the theatre. The Republican standard bearer broke away from the others of his party, shook hands with the cripple and spoke a few encouraging words. It was necessary for other members of his party to pull him along before he went on his way to the platform.

"We are called radicals" Representative Frear told his audience. "But I want to tell you this. Not for one minute do I seek to create prejudice one class against another. Not for a single minute do I seek to create the belief that we are seeking to create any prejudice against wealth or unwealth. We simply are seeking what we honestly believe the attainment of the rights of the common people and the people who work. I have been a Republican all my life and my father before me was a Fremont Republican."

M. E. Roark, in opening the meeting for the Progressive, told the audience that the rally in Oneonta was being financed entirely by the local supporters of the LaFollette candidacy and appealed for contributions from the audience. Political rallies which are started with the taking up of a collection are something new in Oneonta but there was a jingle of money as the women passed through the audience nevertheless.

Roosevelt almost gave his supporters heart failure when he arrived at the station in his special train. He pulled a stunt just like Teddy of old used to pull. The county committee had several luxurious automobiles waiting to take the party, and Teddy in particular. But Teddy left them all flat by walking up the middle of the street with the crowd.

Teddy also went in the front door of the theatre. Smith went in the back. Teddy strode down one of the center aisles, jumped over the orchestra pit and the footlights to the stage. The meeting started right here. "They sent me down the wrong aisle with no steps, but I'm making the others take the same hurdle I took," said Teddy to the audience.

Miss Grace VanNamee who has been accompanying the Roosevelt party, proved a real orator. She told about visiting at Teddy's home in Paris when he was recovering from his wound.

"In July, 1918, I ran upon the Colonel's brother, Archie, on the street in Paris," said Miss VanNamee. "He invited me to visit Colonel Roosevelt at his temporary home. When I got there I found him propped up in bed, recovering from a machine gun bullet wound in his leg. Archie had been killed two or three days before. And during my talk with Colonel Roosevelt, he never said a word about what the Roosevelt had done in the war but everything he had to say was about how wonderful his men were and what they had done at the front."

Colonel Roosevelt made one remark that caused a very noticeable nodding of heads among the feminine members of the audience. He said that when he was at home he was a private in the rear ranks. And Mrs. Roosevelt wasn't on the platform when he made the remark, either. She had returned to Oyster Bay with a cold.

Former Lieut. Governor Jeremiah Wood did not talk long but his talk was full of meat. He charged the Democrats with political hypocrisy and political larceny. "When the Democrats at Albany raised the budget from $125,000,000 to $150,000,000 without creating a single new state activity, when they added $3,000,000 to existing salaries of state employees, and made the increase without any return to the people, that is political larceny," said Mr. Wood.

Colonel Roosevelt listened in gloom to the introductory address made by City Attorney Donald H. Grant, who served under him in the same command in France. Mr. Grant said a lot of nice things about his former commander in the army and then turned and told him that he wanted to impress upon him that he wasn't looking for a job at Albany. Whereupon the famous Roosevelt chuckle and smile became very much in evidence.

The Republican gubernatorial nominee closed his address with an appeal for support of the entire state ticket. "I hope you will vote for every senator and every assemblyman on the state Republican ticket. I'm going to need them at Albany. And, of course, I hope you'll vote for me—but forgetting me."

LOCAL NEWS

The Ladies Aid society of the Oneonta Methodist Episcopal church are preparing for a record breaking bazaar and sale to be held on December 2.

A telephone alarm called the Oneonta fire department to the Chestnut street school yesterday about noon, where a grass fire was extinguished. No damage was done.

Many friends of Rev. T. G. McGonigal, former pastor of St. James church, will desire to hear him again. He will preach at the morning service at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

About 200 guests were present last evening at the semi-annual tea given by the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church. Refreshments were served by the members of the society in the church parlors, and a splendid collection was received for the benefit of the organization. The affair which was a most successful one was in charge of Mrs. Leslie Gardner and Mrs. Harry Lewis.

Justice Kellogg last evening stated that any orders left with Miss Marshall at supreme court chambers today by 10 o'clock will be signed by him. Justice Kellogg is not assuming his judicial duties, but is doing this for the convenience of local and nearby attorneys.

Justice Kellogg Convalescing

Justice J. L. Kellogg, who has been suffering from a severe and protracted illness, is now convalescing and is believed by his physicians to be making progress toward a complete recovery, though the process is necessarily slow. He was able to take a short motor ride yesterday and greatly enjoyed a breath of out door air and a visit to the greenhouse for some chrysanthemums.

Justice Kellogg has arranged with his associates on the bench to care for his assignments until about April 1 next and is planning to leave, accompanied by Mrs. Kellogg, shortly after December 1 for an extended stay in Florida and later they intend to spend a couple of months in California.

He will, however, if his improvement continues, endeavor to pass on light special term work at his chambers during November, when in the city.

Social Events Last Evening

ELK BOWLING LEAGUE

Tenets Made Up for Tournament to Open Monday Evening—Ten Men from Oneonta, Chestnut and Elgin.

The committee in charge of the Elgin bowling league met at the club last evening and arranged ten teams of six men each, and a schedule for the first week. The complete schedule will be made up during the coming week. Games will start at 7:30 o'clock and the rules will be in the main like those of last year.

There is much interest in bowling in the lodge this year and an exceptionally successful year is anticipated. With six men on a team it is hoped that the matches will be close and exciting, and even more enjoyable than in the past.

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO VOTE?

Announcement is made by John Slattery, custodian of voting machines for the city of Oneonta, to the effect that this evening, from 7 to 9 p. m., an instruction meeting, or school, will be held in the Municipal building, so that all who desire to familiarize themselves with the operation of the machines may be able to do so.

Owing to the small vote a year ago there are many who have had no experience with the machines. This small vote, followed by a large registration this year, indicates that there are at least 1,500 voters in the city who last years at least had no practice in machine voting, though many of them may have had such experience previously or elsewhere. The registration this year is large, and in order that voting may proceed expeditiously it is necessary that voters understand the use of the machines.

It is therefore urged that all who can do so be present at the instruction meeting tonight, and also, in order that everybody in the city have plenty of time to vote, that they visit the polls early on election day.

NARROWLY ESCAPED INJURY

Stone Evidently Fired with a Slingshot Crashes Through Windshield. Thursday afternoon while a resident of a nearby village was motoring in the vicinity of the Chestnut street school, a cobblestone as large as a bullet crashed through the windshield, shattering it and hitting one of the passengers in the ear upon the hand, fortunately inflicting no serious injury, though it might easily have destroyed an eye or hitting in the right spot, might have caused a fatal injury.

Indications are that the big stone was fired with a slingshot and appearance would indicate that it was fired maliciously directly at the passing motorist.

It was a most despicable thing to do and parents should warn all children in whose possession they permit slingshots to remain, that they should be fired only when at a safe distance from human beings and buildings and never near a street. Better still they have no place in a city or village.

Church Social Planned

The Epworth league of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church is making plans to hold a Halloween social on the night of Friday, October 25, in the church. A prize will be awarded for the best costume. One of the features will be a grab bag and every resident of the West End is asked to have something ready for collection next Monday and Tuesday. The proceeds will be devoted to the piano fund. A small admission fee will be charged.

We Make Lots of Mistakes

Yes, and we brood and whine about them to beat the band. Are you one of those in Oneonta and vicinity, who recently lost $100,000.00? Say, my twelve old experienced heads working together, make fewer mistakes than does one head going it alone, as for 25 years they have safely cared for several million dollars placed with me at six per cent compound interest, without the loss of a dollar so better let me make good than ever before and over five thousand people are now using me. Its no undue gain to me, as I do not allow commissions, rake offs or big salaries, but divide all gains equitably. If you can't see a hole in a ladder, take your tumble, as my latching is still out at No. 54 Chestnut street, where I also get homes for little fellows, on easy terms and so that rent money pays for them. Gee—What, why don't people think? Help me wake 'em up. I'm the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. advt 11.

My attention having been called to the fact that checks bearing the name of the Morris Chronicle have been rendered to various merchants in Oneonta and vicinity and signed by another than the present publisher, I wish to notify all whom it may concern that E. Franklin Wolfe has absolutely no connection with the Morris Chronicle in any capacity whatever, and that nobody is authorized to contract any bills or make checks for the Morris Chronicle except the undersigned.

SALVATION ARMY CAMPAIGN

Many Workers Enlisted to Drive to Make Budget of $5,000 for Work of Coming Year—Campaign Starts Monday.

The campaign of the local branch of the Salvation Army to raise its budget of $5,000.00, one which has been in preparation for more than a week under the direction and with the assistance of the advisory board composed of representative residents of the city, will open Monday morning, and those in charge feel that an ideal plan for a canvass has been arranged. However, the plan is ideal and so much within itself, as in the confidence of its directors is the desire of the people of Oneonta to support the organization so far as possible.

The work of the Salvation Army in the past year has gained even wider recognition from the people of this city, and even this vicinity, the careful management and frugality of those in charge of the work being particularly noticeable.

Due to the fact that a large number of workers for the canvass have been secured, there is a division of demand on time which should make this campaign one of the fastest and easiest ever conducted in Oneonta. Not only has the canvass been arranged, but the various organizations and churches of the city have been invited to assist in the campaign and practically all of the city pastors are to speak of the work of the Army and of the drive tomorrow.

The executive committee of the Army will interview those in the business section of the city, the workers will canvass only small sections of the residential districts, and it is hoped and expected that the drive for about $5,000 can be completed in five days.

To this end final reports on the drive will be expected on Friday evening. Headquarters of the drive have been opened at the Chamber of Commerce office where the daily reports can be made either in person or by phone.

A brief summary of some of the activities of the Army in Oneonta during the past year will doubtless prove a revelation to those not intimately acquainted with the work. Among these may be mentioned $500,000 in addition to the support of the Army, 402 hours spent in visits made, 273 families visited, and magazines to a total of 1090 provided to the sick or shut in.

Meals were provided for 115 transients and 1000 persons and 240 families were given assistance. Used garments to the number of 882 were distributed by the Army, 166 new garments were supplied, and 53 pairs of shoes were distributed.

Christmas basket dinners were supplied to 275; 133 children were entertained at a Thanksgiving dinner. And in addition to these provisions, 1200 pounds of coal were provided.

While sizable contributions will naturally be appreciated by the Salvation Army, still the bulk of the drive will be for smaller amounts from those who wish to express their interest in the Army but who feel unable to make larger contributions.

MRS. BENEDICT WINS

Secures the Two Prizes Offered in Congoleum Contest.

After careful examination of all the numerous designs submitted the judge in the recent contest for the best color combination drawn upon the urms submitted through the page advertisement in The Star of October 2, awarded the prize locally to Mrs. R. E. Benedict of 21 Pine street, this city. Mrs. Benedict also was awarded the special prize offered by the Oneonta Department store, in a surprise award offered in connection with the contest. This is a handsome Congoleum rug, which Mrs. Benedict will be pleased to receive.

Miss Posthill of the Normal faculty was the judge and in making the decision she stated that floor coverings should be inconspicuous and of good value in light and dark shades, have good hue and coloring and in determining workmanship and technique were considered. In all of these respects Mrs. Benedict was given the award.

No little attention was attracted by the contest to the worth of Congoleum rugs and doubtless their sales received an impetus by the publicity gained.

DEMOCRATS AT SMOKER

Party Supporters Rally and Hear Issue of Campaign Discussed

About fifty members of the John W. Davis for President club of Oneonta held a rally and smoker in the city headquarters last night and listened to discussions of the present campaign issues by C. J. Beams and W. H. McGowan.

Mr. Beams declared that the league of nations which was advocated by the late President Wilson was the greatest plan for world peace that ever had been presented to mankind.

"I believe that if John W. Davis is elected President, he will add a prestige and renown to the office such as Washington has never known before," said Mr. Beams. "And I feel confident that with Davis leading the Democrats in the nation and Smith leading them in the state, we are going to have such a celebration here after the returns come in next November, as Oneonta has never known before."

Mr. McGowan gave a detailed narrative of the activities of both political parties in national affairs for the last sixteen years. He took issue with Colonel Roosevelt's statement concerning employment four years ago and at the present time, quoting reports from the secretary of labor to show that in 1920, 4,000,000 workers were idle while at the present time the number is about fifteen per cent greater according to the report coming from the same source.

"There doesn't seem to be much wrong about Teddy," said Mr. McGowan, "except his ability to remember facts."

ESTEEMED OTSEGO MAN.

George M. Peaslee, an esteemed resident of Oneonta and Otsego county, died at his home at 435 Main street, this city, yesterday morning shortly after 10 o'clock as a result of acute intestinal obstruction with which he had suffered since Saturday last. Funeral services will be held from his late home Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton of the Main Street Baptist church officiating. Burial will be made in Glenwood cemetery beside his wife, who died less than six months ago.

Mr. Peaslee had suffered intensely for a week, but he never lost his cheerful and jovial manner and was appreciative of all favors and kindnesses until the end.

The sympathy of many friends will be extended to his daughter, Miss Helen G. Peaslee, who cared for her father, and other surviving members of his family, a son, Walter H. Peaslee of Oneonta, Pa., his sister, Mrs. Lily Norton of Westford, and several nieces and nephews.

George M. Peaslee was born at Westford, September 20, 1851, the son of Eleazer and Emeline Norton Peaslee, both descendants of early settlers in that vicinity. He was united with Adena Hibbard of Laurens, September 24, 1876, and in 1881 moved to Oneonta to conduct his home, working first at the local D. & H. shops and later as a policeman on the state roads and as a farmer, he owning a farm near the reservoir.

For the past two years he had led a retired life. He was a kind and loving father and husband, devoted to his family. He was popular and respected among his friends and acquaintances.

He was blessed with love for nature, and animal and plant life.

Mr. Peaslee never joined a church, but was a devoted Christian man. He was a charter member of the Oneonta Protestant Home club.

GERMAN LOAN AND MEMBERS

Roger W. Babson, Financial Expert, Discovers Important Phase of European Politics.

Babson Park, Mass., Oct. 24.—An analysis is being made at Babson Park of the subscriptions to the new German loan; who they are from, what sections of the country are providing the money, and the interest which is being shown by investors everywhere. That the loan has been a huge success in, of course, common knowledge; but it has not yet been fully realized what this successful flotation means. In an exclusive interview today Roger W. Babson made the following statement:

"So many comments have been made regarding the security and yield of the new German bonds that I need not discuss this phase of the question. Personally, I am hopeful regarding European bonds only on the assumption that there is to be general disarmament in Europe. Europe has money enough either to make good its indebtedness or to maintain large armies. Whether or not it has sufficient funds to do both, only the future can tell. I sincerely trust that the League of Nations will develop some plan which will enable Europe to safely disarm. Then there will be no question regarding European bonds and the present German bonds should sell at a handsome premium. The fact that Europe has not disarmed is why Germany and these other countries are obliged to pay such a high rate of interest for their money. Moreover, the banks which have subscribed to these issues so generously have probably done so in anticipation that some such disarmament plan will be successfully worked out. Irrespective, however, of the question of the future market price of the securities, two facts are self-evident:

"(1) The flotation of this loan in America and Europe means that arteries of trade, which have been clogged the past ten years, are today being opened. It is true that peace was theoretically declared when the Treaty of Versailles was signed. The signing of treaties, however, does not mean peace. The world is ruled by feelings rather than by treaties. Up until a few weeks ago there was almost as much bitterness between Germany and France as there was when the armistice was signed. In a general way this applies to all countries, including the United States. Up to last week it was not good form even in the United States and Canada to do much business with Germany. The manufacturer or merchant who did business with Germany was looked upon by many people as a 'snob' or looked upon by members of a labor union. Today this is changed. Certainly General Dawes and his associates are entitled to a tremendous amount of credit for their constructive part in this important development.

"(2) The opening up of these arteries of finance and commerce brings a real benefit to many sections of this country. Probably the first section to benefit will be the south. Germany is bound to import more cotton during the next 12 months than she has during any 12 months of the last 10 years. With the good cotton crop which the south is having and the good prices which she is to receive, all the cotton states should distinctly benefit by the successful flotation of this German loan. The copper interest should also benefit some; hat Germany will now come into the market for copper and European consumption in general should be stimulated thereby. This means increased prosperity for Utah, Nevada, Arizona, and possibly even the Lake districts. All sections depending upon copper should be helped by this German loan. Although the price of wheat has turned recently, the sag would have been far more had this German loan been a failure. With the great amount of wheat being rushed to market and the huge crop, it is surprising that the price has not broken more. The successful flotation of the German loan should increase foreign demand and increase exports and thus distinctly help the grain situation.

"One should not close a comment on the German loan without reference to the men behind it. As I have often stated before, it is men who make prosperity; not money or materials or even natural resources. The men behind this movement are the finest men that the world produces. I have the honor to be personally acquainted with Owen D. Young, who has had general charge of the reparations readjustment in Europe during the past few months. Mr. Young, a native of VanHornesville, is now chairman of the Board of Directors of the General Electric company. Also, it was his initiative that formed the Radio Corporation of America, and a number of other very important and far reaching developments. Mr. Young is a man of deep insight and always ready to give his opinion in a most wonderful manner. I might also mention General Dawes, Mr. Robinson, Mr. Gilbert and other men connected with this work. The fact that they are now interested in bringing about a real friendly feeling between the European countries, which for years have been fighting, is of itself a tremendous thing. Today's business as indicated on the Babson chart is 7 per cent below normal. For the first time for many months I am willing to forecast that this will climb upward before long."
